Kapitel 26:

Hawks was crouching on one of the rooftops of Yokohama, they had gotten some clues to Loup-Garou's identity and whereabouts, but there wasn't any evidence that he was involved in the stuff that happened here. He was kinda frustrated that everything went so slow. But doing research into another country's underworld wasn't an easy task. It was freaking annoying.

He heard steps behind him and he turned his head to see who was approaching him. He raised his eyebrows when Dabi appeared. "Yo." The villain mumbled.

"Hey, what's up?" Hawks asked.

Dabi looked at him with a strange look. Hawks noticed that he had closed the coat he was wearing completely, this was new ...

The villain stared at Hawks for several minutes, before he exhaled frustrated. "Damn ... this is harder than I thought ... Look", he paused again, he put a hand on his neck, he didn't know why it was so hard ... "Don't laugh, but let's make a deal, okay?"

Hawks eyebrows shot up. "What deal?"

"You want information's about this alpha lady, right? I could give you some, but you need to help me first" Dabi's voice sounded off. Hawks stood up and mustered Dabi again. He noticed that he was wearing scent blockers.

He would have joked about it, but something in Dabi's voice held him back. The villain was serious. "Depends on what you need help with."

He could see Dabi's jaw clench and unclench. This really wasn't easy for him, huh? Much to his confusion, Dabi opened his coat. He pressed down the shirt that was slightly moving from the wind.

Hawks looked at him dumbfounded. "Huh, didn't really expect that ... How far?"

"A bit about four months ... It gets harder to hide. Especially from Shigaraki ... But Toga is very suspicious of me too, she is pestering me, ever since I started wearing scent blockers."

"So, what exactly do you want from me? And what information do you have?" Hawks still couldn't believe it.

"I want you to take me in for the next five months, or hide me somewhere, where they can't find me! I mean, I could run away on my own, that is not the problem, but I need someone to help me with ... everything else!" He sounded desperate.

"As for the information ... there was this alpha-chick with Shigaraki, she had surprisingly good control over him. I heard that you were looking for her, maybe that is the chick in question."

Hawks exhaled deeply. "Damn, you ... This could get me in trouble ... hiding a villain away." He looked Dabi in the eyes.

"C'mon man! You can't let me hanging! Help a fellow omega out!" He stopped for a second. "And if not for me, do it for the pup! I don't want her anywhere near the League. Especially not Shigaraki ..."

Keigo looked Dabi again in the eyes. He thought about it for a few moments. He then closed his eye. "Fine ... I'll help you ..."

Dabi sighed in relieve. "Thanks ..."

Eri was now with Deku and the others on a daily. She visited them one after another, so it was quite time consuming, but it seemed to really work. They relaxed more and more, even Shoto and Hitoshi.

Shota could go in their rooms without problems now. They didn't growl at him or anything, maybe because his scent was all over Eri and vice versa.

They were now three and a half months into their recovery, for a very long time, they hadn't displayed signs of aggressiveness. They seemed more themselves again.

Today they wanted to try something. How would they react to each other? Could they be in the same room without complications?

They brought Izuku first into the new meeting room. There was a large desk and Eri was already sitting there, she had some papers and crayons. "Hello Mr. Deku!" She smiled brightly.

Izuku was happy to see her too. "Hey, puppy! How're you doing?" He grinned as she held up the paper she was drawing. It showed him and her so far.

"I am doing good. And you?" She asked.

"M'fine, I feel so much better thanks to you."

It was true, he could think for himself more again. The constant fog that was in his head all the time was slowly but surely getting weaker. He could sometimes still feel the beast inside of him. But for the most of it, he had chained it far back in his mind.

At first the power was amazing. It was a rush, a need to be so strong. He wanted to dominate everything. He wanted to have his omega by his side. His beastly instincts had taken over completely!

But now that he was clearer again, he felt incredibly guilty. His memory was still clouded, but he knew, that he had done something really, really bad to Kacchan.

The dark voice in his head was still there. Trying to seduce him, to unchain the beast again, that was roaring in the back of his head. To release the chains, to give into the temptation, to just take what he wanted ...

But ever since he saw Eri again, something clicked in his head. His true self was coming to the surface again. He wanted to protect the little pup! Both his human side and his beast side agreed on that. Protect the little pup no matter what!

And when he agreed on something with the beast, he was suddenly able to get more and more control over it. They switched places now. Before, Izuku's human side was locked up in chains. Now it was the beast's turn. However, the chains were not strong yet. They could snap easily and it took all his might, to hold the beast inside of him back.

He sat down next to Eri and started to draw too. But after a while, he noticed, that someone was coming. A threat ... He started growling.

The door opened and Hitoshi was brought in. Izuku stood up, he clenched his fists. What did this alpha want from them? Was he a threat to the pup?

But Eri jumped off the chair and ran over to Hitoshi. Izuku tensed. So did Aizawa, Hound Dog, Midnight and Hizashi.

"Hello Mr. Toshi!" She grabbed his hand and pulled him towards the table. "Mr. Deku, don't growl please! Mr. Toshi is nice! Aren't you friends?"

Izuku and Hitoshi glared at each other. That was the moment of truth ...

After a few very tense seconds, Izuku sat down, still glaring at Hitoshi. The purple haired boy took a seat across from Izuku. "But he's dangerous, little pup" Hitoshi growled.

"You are!" Izuku snarled.

"Stop! Don't fight!" Eri pouted angrily.

Izuku sighed. "Fine ... Let's call it a truce."

"Alright ..."

The teachers sighed. At least this seemed to work. They gave them a few minutes, until they brought Shoto into the room. The bi colored boy was much calmer than Izuku or Hitoshi. Eri brought him over to the table and he sat down a few seats away from Izuku.

After a few more minutes they finally brought Eijiro. Aizawa was very tense, because Eijiro was more aggressive, especially towards Izuku. As soon as the redhead entered, the tension in the room grew. Izuku snarled at Eijiro. "You!" Izuku lost control over the beast. He saw the alpha that had tried to take away his omega!

For Eijiro it was the same. Izuku wanted to claim his omega! He couldn't let this happen! Eijiro jumped at Izuku. The greenette grabbed Eijiro's hands. They both snarled and growled when they crashed.

Eri shrieked and Aizawa and Hound Dog were immediately there to protect the pup and get the students off of each others throats.

Izuku knew that this was wrong. Kacchan wasn't 'his'. He shouldn't be so angry. But it was so hard to control himself. He was overwhelmed by Eijiro in his Unbreakable form. He pushed him back and on the ground. Hound Dog tried to pull Eijiro off but it was nigh impossible.

"PLEASE STOP IT!" Eri screamed. "NO FIGHTING BETWEEN FRIENDS!" She had tears in her eyes. She escaped Aizawa's grip and stood at Eijiro's and Izuku's side. "Please stop it you two!"

Eijiro released his quirk and both boys looked at Eri. Then Eijiro looked down at Izuku. Something in his head clicked. Not an enemy ... Izuku was not an enemy! They were friends ...

Izuku stared too. For a long time they just looked into each other's eyes. They try to figure out, how to handle this. Even though the teachers were really tense, they didn't dare to interrupt. They had to settle this on their own! They had to choose to stop it.

Their faces relaxed after a while, Eijiro was still mounting Izuku. "I ... I am sorry" the redhead mumbled. He stood up and held a hand out for Izuku. Hesitantly the other alpha grabbed it.

"Me too." The greenette replied. Shoto and Hitoshi relaxed too, the same was for the teachers. This was a huge step!

"We're sorry, puppy!" Eijiro and Izuku said in unison.

Eri wiped her tears away. "It's okay. Everything is okay now?"

"I think so ... at least for a while ..." Izuku murmured.

"Yeah" Eijiro added.

Shoto looked over to Hitoshi. The purple haired boy nodded in agreement. Yes, everything was okay for now.
